

Layered regime map: predicted notch strength

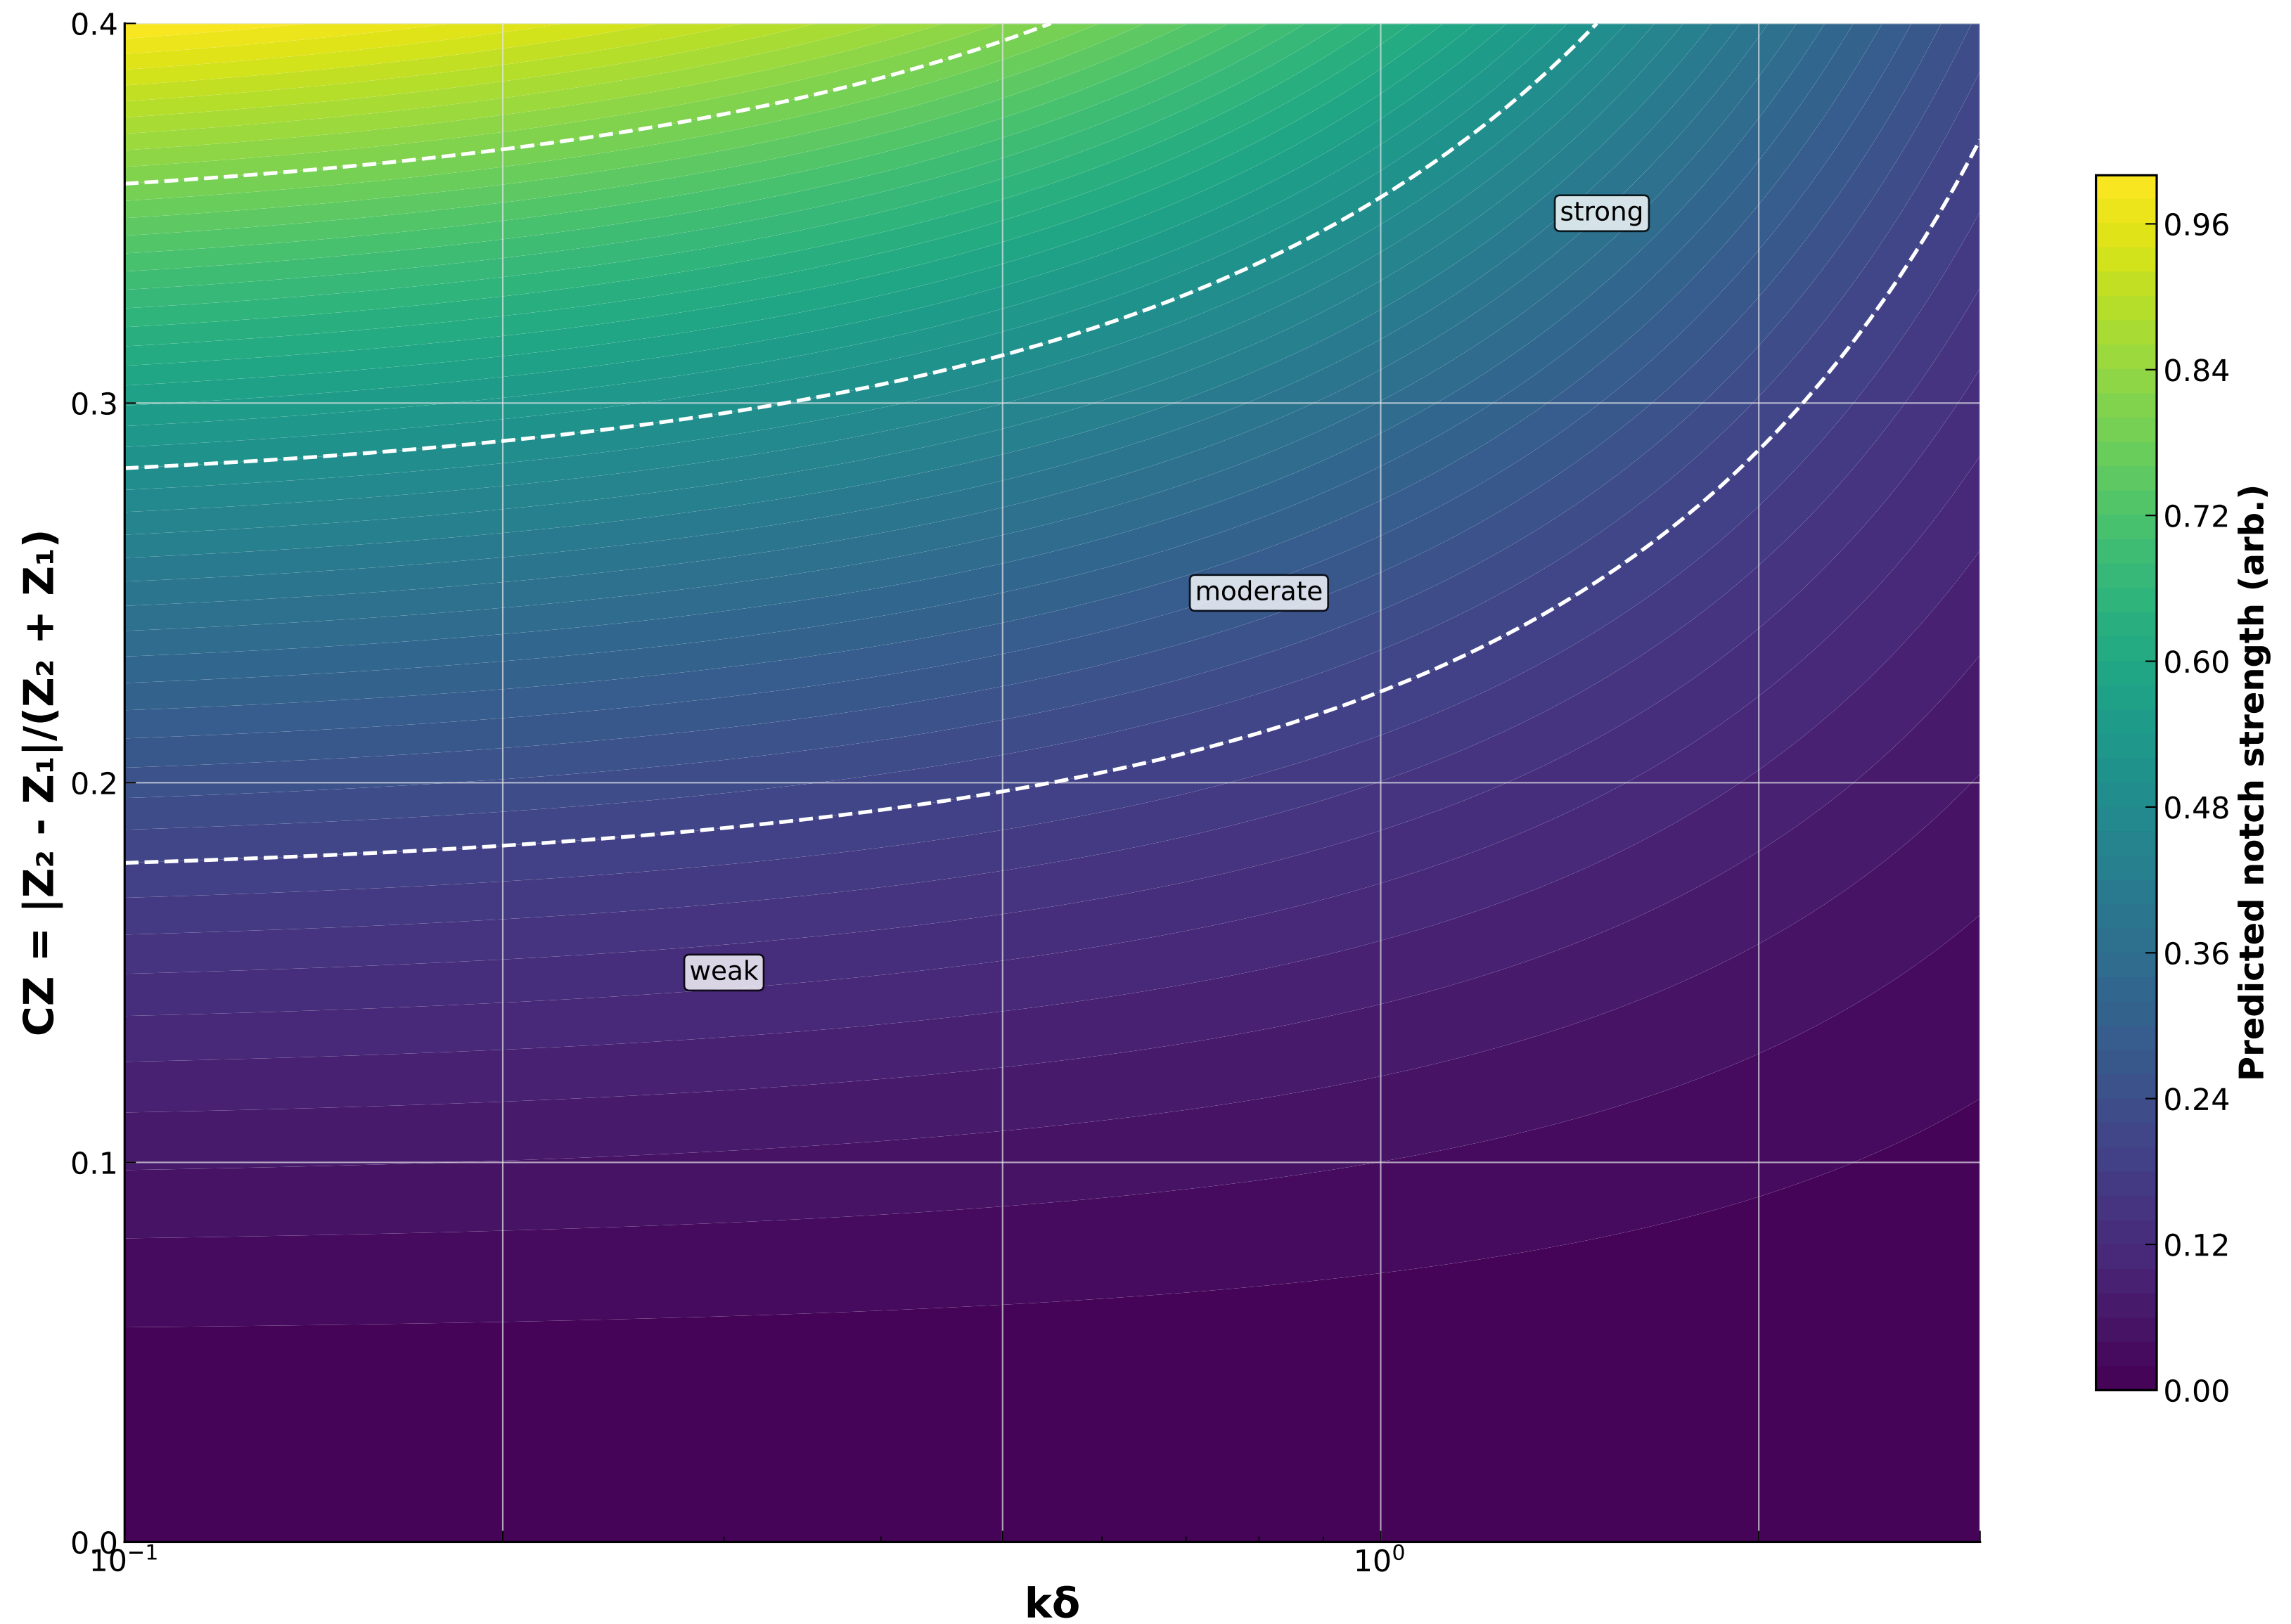

Figure 3.8B. Notch strength increases with impedance contrast CZ and decreases with interface thickness $k\delta$; sharp, high-contrast layers produce strong comb-like reverberation.